

I am in favor of Local Number Portability (LNP) for Wireless phones. I would like to be able to change wireless services to take advantage of better features and new types of phones, but it is too important for me to keep my existing phone number so I can be reached.

Wireless service providers should be made to support LNP like the traditional land-based phone providers do.